Private properties & holiday homes

Would you like to fulfil your dream of having your very own art collection, expand your existing collection with top-class art objects, or acquire your own unique artwork for your private property, holiday home or company premises?

Then you can rely on our more than 30 years experience of consultation in art strategy in the international art market. With our worldwide network of experienced art historians and consultants, we develop individual art and collection concepts. These fulfil both the highest quality and aesthetic requirements, and offer future-proof investments in keeping with art, architecture, interior design and open space planning, from idea to implementation of the artwork.

More than ever, the modern global art market requires a special flair for established and upcoming artists. In addition, our team guarantees a personal, individual and confidential consultation in the search for outstanding works by the most important artists of the 20th/21st Century. Intensive authenticity and provenance research are therefore essential factors, alongside an impairment test. Of course our range of services also includes simulations created by our interior designers, which give you the opportunity to imagine the impact of an artwork in your space in advance.

Discretion is the essence of our work and the foundation of a serious, creative and fruitful art consultation. Let's make your dream come true together, to discover multifaceted artworks, and to develop a future-proof art strategy for your very own art collection.

We would be pleased to accompany you on your path to a new aesthetic quality of life and look forward to supporting you with our expertise wherever you need us.

Yours, Alexander Baumgarte
